About each event

The National University Brass Band Championships, better known to many as UniBrass, is one of the most exciting events in the brass band calendar. This year's event takes place at the University of Sheffield on Saturday 5 February. With the majority of participants being non-music students, the event offers an opportunity to establish relationships with this vital audience segment before they enter the world of work. This is also your chance to become established in the mind of the generations of graduates who will have a personal disposable income for the first time. We expect 1,600 enthusiastic performers and music-lovers to attend this event.

UniBrass research suggests that 67% of participants look to purchase a new instrument within three years of graduation.*

Trading opportunities at the 2022 Youth Champs, will again include both trade stands and programme advertising, giving your organisation access to the next generation and the most vibrant audience in the brass band marketplace. This year's event is taking place on 26-27 March at the Corby Business Academy. We expect 3,000 enthusiastic performers and music-lovers to attend this event.

The European Brass Band Festival will take place 28 April-1 May at Birmingham's Town Hall and Symphony Hall. Trade stands will be situated in the newly refurbished Symphony Hall atrium on 30 April and 1 May. With hundreds of spectators and participants there for the whole weekend, this will be the trade show event of the year for brass bands. We expect 4,400 enthusiastic performers and music-lovers to attend this event.

Our event programmes are often retained by purchasers for many years, acting as souvenirs and mementos for banding events of particular significance to those involved. We use a bespoke programme size that is becoming standard in the entertainment industry. This size is designed to be easier to hold and read whilst attending a performance but crucially for you it can be put in a pocket or handbag. This means that our programmes are more likely to be retained, giving increased exposure for your advertising.

Availability of adverts and trade stand spaces is limited, so we recommend that you get your order in as soon as possible – we will operate a strict 'first come, first served' policy – so avoid disappointment and contact us right away!
